BUSY BEE BEAUTIFUL STUFF

2025

COLLECTION – the materials collected were then sorted and arranged, the children were asked to express their creativity as they made and thought about the things they were making with the beautiful stuff collected from home.

The children explored with various materials hence their imagination was stimulated, they interacted with one another and they could take as many things as they wanted from the collection. The end result was this Beautiful stuff handbook.

'Look at these big buttons.'

'I want the car.'

'I made bangles for my mum.'

THE PROCESS- the teachers observed the children collecting materials and arranging them on brown papers, they recorded what happened and the conversations that were taking place during the session. Making Collages

Next we said “Now you can make a picture with your collection. You can arrange the beautiful things however you like.” The children described their creations and we wrote down their words.
